

Interference from AM and SSB operators is now making it much harder to conduct CW QSOs on the lower end of 160 meters. Though CW is slowly being phased out, it is still enjoyed by many amateurs, and I feel it needs to be given some sort of protection on 160. There are CW subbands on just about every other frequency; why not 160?